

Artwork by Lesley Ferguson

Artwork by Lesley Ferguson

Artwork by Lesley Ferguson

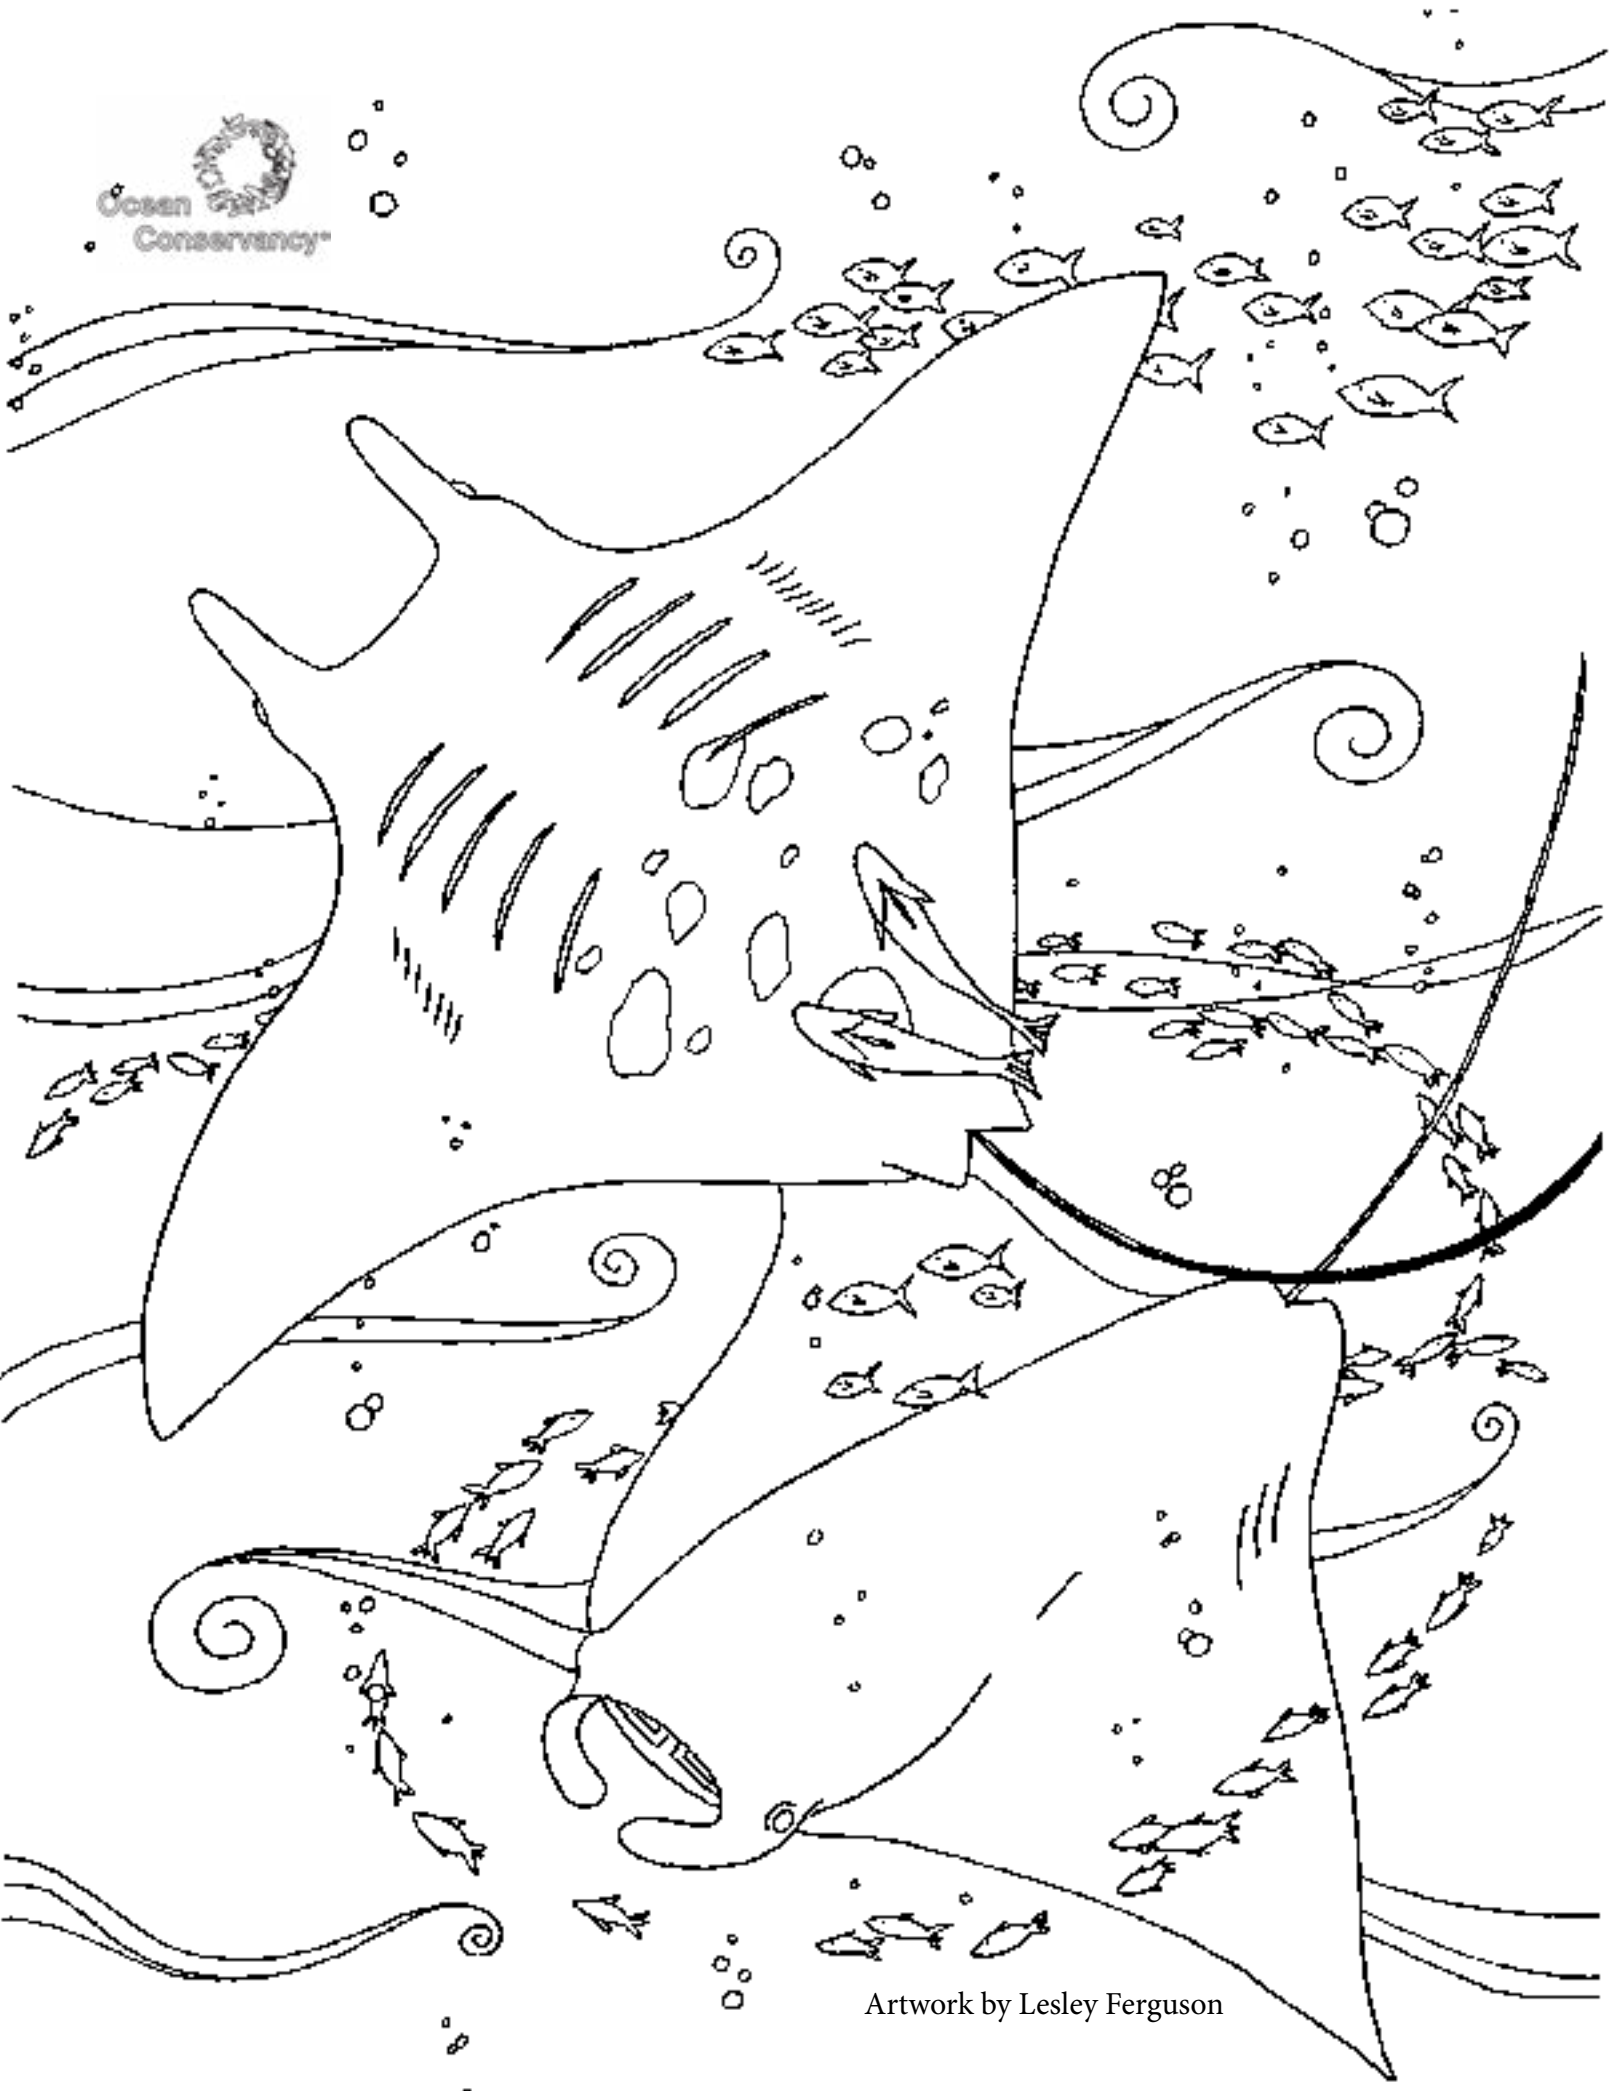

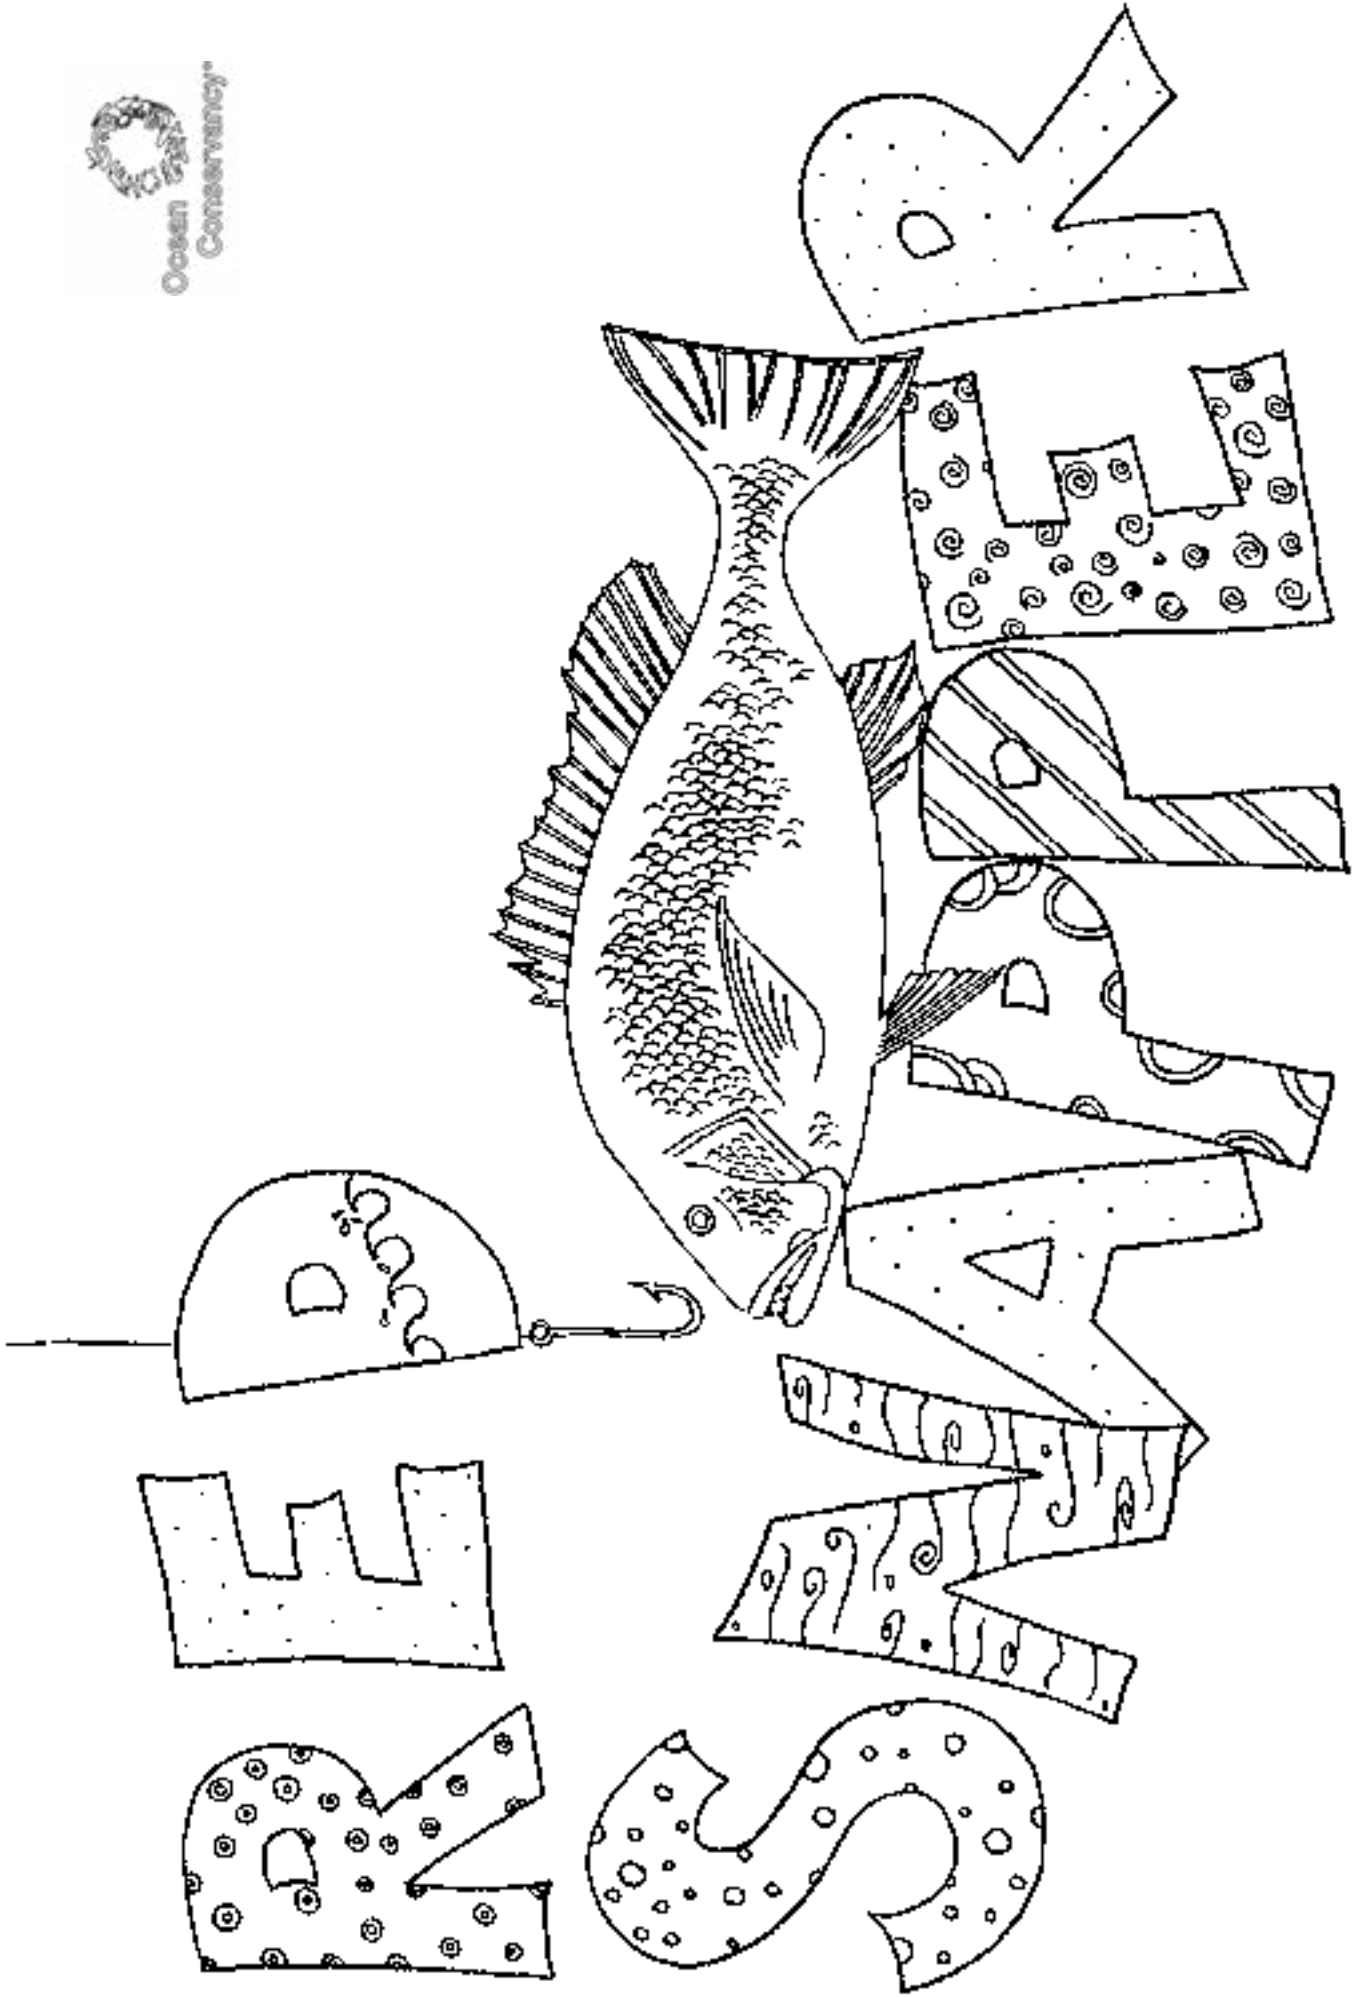

Artwork by Lesley Ferguson

Artwork by Lesley Ferguson

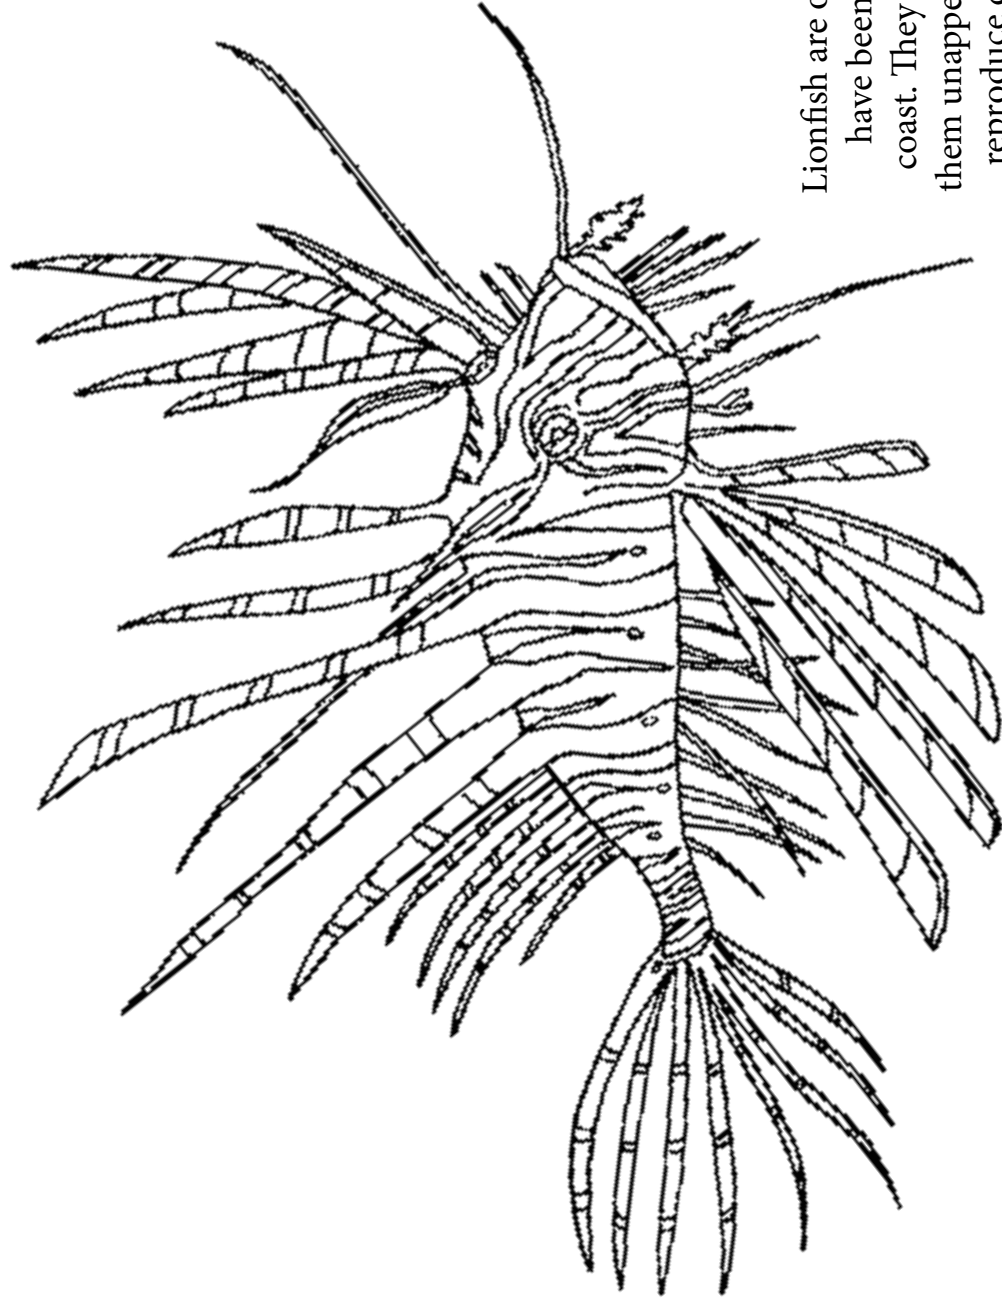

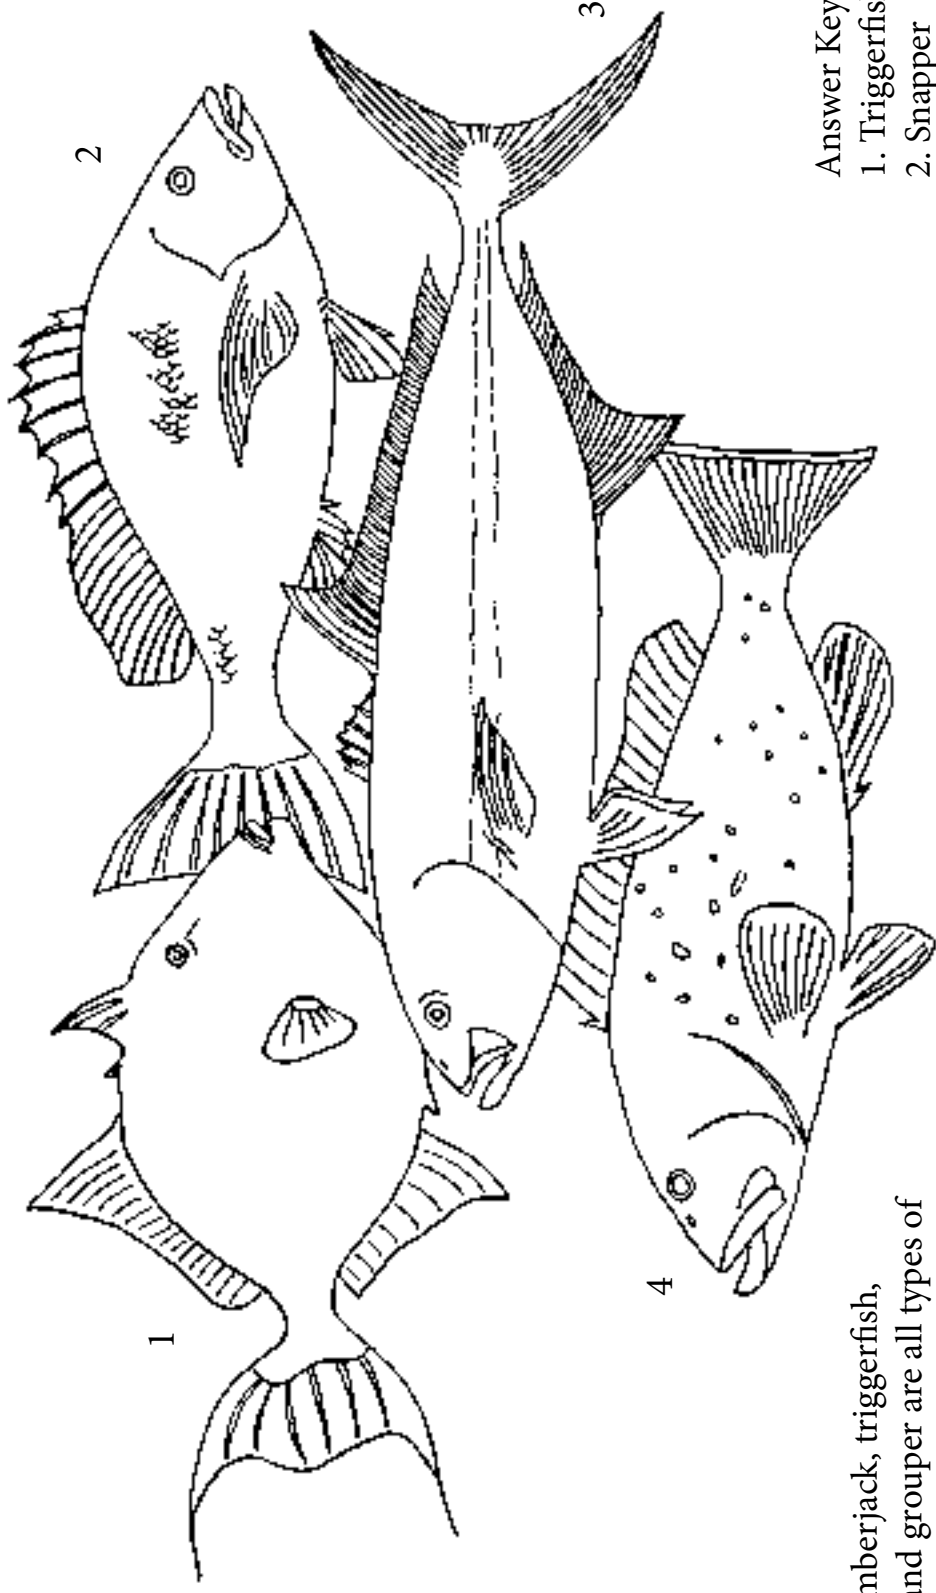

INVASIVE SPECIES

Lionfish are originally from the South Pacific, but have been introduced in waters off the Florida coast. They have long venomous spines, making them unappetizing to predators and because they reproduce quickly, they have become one of the most problematic invasive species in the Gulf.

REEF FISH

Greater amberjack, triggerfish, snapper, and grouper are all types of reef fish that rely on habitat like coral reefs for shelter and food. Can you match each fish with their picture below?

- Answer Key:
1. Triggerfish
 2. Snapper
 3. Amberjack
 4. Grouper

TARPON

